

Alexander Soetaert teaches and researches at KU Leuven. His doctoral dissertation focused on Catholic literature and transregional exchange in the Ecclesiastical Province of Cambrai. He is a member of the Research Group Early Modern History at the University of Leuven, which takes a special interest in transregional history and border studies. His present research is at the crossroads of religious, transregional and book history.

