

Towards a History of Epistemic Genres

Textbook and Commentary, Case and Recipe in the Making of Medical Knowledge

June 26–27, 2015

Maria Böhmer (University of Zurich), John Carson (University of Michigan), Lorraine Daston (MPIWG, Berlin), Rebecca Flemming (Cambridge University), John Forrester (Cambridge University), Carlo Ginzburg (Scuola Normale Superiore, Pisa), Asaf Goldschmidt (University of Tel Aviv), Marta Hanson (Johns Hopkins University), John B. Henderson (Louisiana State University), Angela Ki Che Leung (University of Hong Kong), Efraim Lev (University of Haifa), Rafael Mandressi (Centre Koyré, CNRS-EHESS, Paris), Andreas Mayer (Centre Koyré, CNRS-EHESS, Paris), Glenn Most (Scuola Normale Superiore, Pisa, University of Chicago), Gianna Pomata (Johns Hopkins University), Ahmed Ragab (Harvard University), Stefan Reichmuth (Ruhr-Universität, Bochum), Thomas Rütten (Newcastle University), Liba Taub (Cambridge University), Laurence Totelin (Cardiff University), Yvonne Wübben (Freie Universität, Berlin, Ruhr-Universität, Bochum)

Max Planck Institute for the History of Science, Boltzmannstraße 22, 14195 Berlin, conference room
Organized by Gianna Pomata (Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore) and Yvonne Wübben (Freie Universität, Berlin, Ruhr-Universität, Bochum)
www.mpiwg-berlin.mpg.de