

Exploring Space in Japanese Literature

© Stuart Rankin (National Diet Library)

9.30 Welcome & Introduction

10.00 -12.00 Panel 1

Discussant: Rafael Dernbach (University of Cambridge)

Daniel White (Hōsei University)

Space as Resonance: Affective Belonging in and through the Literature of Murakami Haruki

Elena Giannoulis (Freie Universität Berlin)

Heterotopian Spaces in Contemporary Japanese Literature

13.30-15.30 Panel 2

Discussant: Dinah Zank (Freie Universität Berlin)

Janet Walker (Rutgers University)

A Japanese Woman in the Colonies: Oei's Spatial Adventures in Shiga's An'ya kōro

Paul Schalow (Rutgers University)

Spatial Dimensions of Trauma in Hibakusha Literature: Takenishi Hiroko's Gishiki (The Rite)

16.00-18.00 Panel 3

Discussant: Niels Bader (Freie Universität Berlin)

Hideto Tsuboi (Nichibunken/International Research Center for Japanese Studies)

Inside the Fence: Writing in the Japanese-American Internment Camps

Yumi Hirata (Ōsaka University)

Busan and Yokosuka:

Korean War Zones in two Short Stories by Kim Tal-su

18.00-19.00 Final Discussion

Thursday, 12th November 2015, 09.30 s.t.

Freie Universität Berlin

Habelschwerdter Allee 45

Room JK 33/ 121

14195 Berlin

Organizer: Prof. Dr. Elena Giannoulis

(elena.giannoulis@fu-berlin.de)

JAPANOLOGIE

FREIE UNIVERSITÄT BERLIN

Freie Universität

Berlin

FRIEDRICH SCHLEGEL GRADUIERTENSCHULE
für literaturwissenschaftliche Studien

VolkswagenStiftung