

International Workshop on
“New Perspectives on Morphological Change”
(Room: L 115, Silberlaube)

Friday, 27th October 2006

- 9.00-9.30 Elisabeth Stark, Freie Universität Berlin
Opening remarks
- 9.30-10.45 Paolo Ramat, Università di Pavia
“Typology and philology”
- 10.45-12.00 Greville Corbett, University of Surrey
“Determining features and their values”
- 14.00-15.00 Ranko Matasović, University of Zagreb
“The drift in the evolution of gender systems in Indo-European languages”
- 15.00-16.00 Jan Terje Faarlund, University of Oslo
“The diachronic morphosyntax of clitics: from free determiner to cliticized article”
- 16.30-17.30 Franz Rainer, Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien
“Polysemy of agent nouns in Romance: typology, diachrony and universals of semantic change in word-formation”
- 17.30-18.30 Matthias Hüning, Freie Universität Berlin
“A comparative view on the history of A+N compounds in Dutch and German”

Saturday, 28th October 2006

- 9.00-10.00 Elisabeth Leiss, Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität München
“Diachrony and typology of aspect and modality across European languages”
- 10.00-11.00 Werner Abraham, Universität Wien
“Reflexive and passive diatheses in diachrony and synchrony”
- 11.30-12.30 Anna Bartra Kaufmann, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona
“Passive morphology and syntax in Old Catalan and Romance”
- 14.30-15.30 Georg Kaiser, Universität Konstanz & Klaus von Heusinger, Universität Stuttgart
“Morphosyntactic change in differential object marking in Romance languages”
- 15.30-16.30 Franck Floricic, Université de Toulouse
“On the morphosyntactic status of negation in the history of Italian, Spanish and Occitan”
- 17.00-18.00 Agnes Jäger, Friedrich Schiller Universität Jena
“Typology of changes in syntactic patterns of negation with special emphasis on German”
- 18.00-19.00 Alex Klinge, Copenhagen Business School
“Syntax or morphology? On the development and analyses of un- Germanic English lexical formation patterns”