

Contents

Editorial Preface — V

Hans Feger

Preface — 1

Western Approach to Chinese Philosophy as a Methodological Problem

Fabian Heubel

The Other Between. Critical Reflections on François Jullien’s Approach to “Chinese Thought” — ■

Margus Ott

Philosophy between Interpenetration and Juxtaposition — ■

Dimitra Amarantidou

The Touch of Kongzi’s Irony and Reflections on Methodology — ■

Michael Beaney

Getting to Know Knowing-as as Knowing — ■

Mario Wenning

Nothingness and Neutrality — ■

Western Approach to Chinese Philosophy as a Problem of Cultural Studies

Karl-Heinz Pohl

Reflections on the Methodology of a Cross-Cultural Dialogue Between China and the ‘West’ — ■

Roger T. Ames

Comparative Cultural Hermeneutics as Method — ■

Jana S. Rošker

Transcultural Sublation of Concepts and Objects through the Lens of Adorno and Gongsun Long — ■

Wolfgang Schwabe

Reading the Zhongyong 中庸 in Times of Cultural Upheaval — ■

Natalie Chamat

Diverging into the Untranslatable. George Steiner, Paul Ricœur and François Jullien — ■

Western Approach to Chinese Philosophy as Global Philosophy

Stefan Gosepath

The Need for Global Philosophy — ■

Arindam Chakrabarti, Ralph Weber

Global Post-Comparative Philosophy as Just Philosophy — ■

Philippe Brunozzi

Global Philosophy: Starting from Philosophical Theorizing — ■

Kai Marchal

Who is Afraid of François Jullien? Some Thoughts on the Political and Philosophical Implications of an “Untimely” — ■

Ľubomír Dunaj

Revolution, Transformation and the Role of the Subject.

Critical Reflections on François Jullien’s Book The Silent Transformations — ■

Book Review

Christoph Menke

Selbstbesinnung und Gegenläufigkeit. Zu Fabian Heubel:

Was ist chinesische Philosophie. Kritische Perspektiven — ■

Heiner Roetz

Zu Fabian Heubel: Was ist chinesische Philosophie? Kritische Perspektiven — ■

Bio-Bibliography — ■

Name Index — ■

