

Norms and Capacities in Epistemology

November 24–25, 2017 – Freie Universität Berlin

- Theme            This workshop brings together work from various debates in epistemology such as virtue epistemology and epistemic capacities, know-how and skill, epistemic normativity and the social epistemology of expertise and competence.
- Organized by    Barbara Vetter (Berlin) & David Löwenstein (Frankfurt)
- Venue            Thielallee 43, D-14195 Berlin
- Registration    The workshop is free and open to all. To register, please contact David Löwenstein at loewenstein@em.uni-frankfurt.de.

Friday, 24 November 2017

- 16:30            Tea & Coffee
- 17:00 – 18:15    Yuri Cath (La Trobe)
Know How and Skill: The Puzzles of Priority
- 18:45            Drinks & Dinner at Luise, Königin-Luise-Straße 40

Saturday, 25 November 2017

- 9:30             Tea & Coffee
- 10:00 – 11:15    Simona Aimar (University College London)
Skills as Sciences in Aristotle
- 11:15            Tea & Coffee
- 11:45 – 13:00    David Löwenstein (Frankfurt)
Knowledge-wh and Epistemic Competence
- 13:15            Lunch at Coffee Cross, Thielallee 34
- 15:00 – 16:15    Katherine Dormandy (Innsbruck)
How (Not) to Believe on Authority
- 16:15            Tea & Coffee
- 16:45 – 18:00    Timothy Williamson (Oxford)
Norms of Belief: Structure
- 18:45            Drinks & Dinner at Alter Krug, Königin-Luise-Straße 52