

Contents

Editorial Preface — V

Hans Feger (Berlin, Germany)

Preface — 1

Hilge Landweer (Berlin, Germany)

Embodiment

Phenomenology East/West – Introduction — 3

I Experiencing the Living Body — 体验生命体

Hermann Schmitz (Kiel, Germany)

The Felt Body and Embodied Communication — 9

Bernhard Waldenfels (Bochum, Germany)

Der Leib als Umschlagstelle zwischen Kultur und Natur — 20

Tanja Stähler (Sussex, UK)

Exploring Pregnant Embodiment with Phenomenology and Butoh Dance — 35

Murata Junichi (Tokyo, Japan)

What are Senses and Sense Modalities?

From the Viewpoint of an Ecological Phenomenology — 56

Saulius Geniusas (Hongkong, China)

Phenomenology of Embodied Personhood and the Challenges of Naturalism in Pain Research — 75

II Collective Bodies and Bodily Resonance — 共同一体和身体共鸣

David Carr (Atlanta, USA)

“... so etwas wie Leiblichkeit.”

On Social Embodiment — 91

Hilge Landweer (Berlin, Germany)

Emotion and Shared Feelings

A New Concept of Embodiment — 104

Undine Eberlein (Berlin, Germany)

On Bodily Resonance

Phenomenological approaches, empirical examples, and open questions — 118

III Embodiment, Mediality and Aesthetics — 具身、媒介与美学

Hans Feger (Berlin, Germany)

Aesthetic Turn

From Thinking as Noesis to Thinking as Listening to my Living Body
(Nietzsche) — 133

Tonino Griffero (Rome, Italy)

Felt-Bodily Resonances

Towards a Pathic Aesthetics — 149

Tani Toru (Kyoto, Japan)

Body, Language and Mediality — 165

Kwan Tze-wan (Hongkong, China)

Bodily Dasein and Chinese Script Components

Uncovering Husserlian/Merleau-Pontian Connections — 178

Yvonne Förster (Lüneburg, Germany)

The Metaphor of the Net

Embodiment and Disembodiment in Contemporary Cinema — 208

IV After Heidegger — 后海德格尔

Mark A. Wrathall (Riverside, USA)

“I” “here” and “you” “there”

Heidegger on existential spatiality and the “volatilized” self — 223

Jan Slaby (Berlin, Germany)

Living in the Moment

Boredom and the Meaning of Existence in Heidegger and Pessoa — 235

Wang Wen-Sheng (Taipei, Taiwan)

Heidegger on the Problem of the Embodiment of God — 257

V Parallels with Phenomenology — 与现象学的共性

Leung Po Shan (Hongkong, China)

From the analysis of the political embodiment in Heidegger's Black Notebooks to a brief comparison with Confucianism — 275

Christian Helmut Wenzel (Taipei, Taiwan)

Phenomenology of Embodied Intersubjectivity

From Zhuangzi To Hermann Schmitz — 291

Bret W. Davis (Maryland, USA)

Toward a Liberative Phenomenology of Zen — 304

VI Complements to Phenomenology — 对现象学的补充

Maren Wehrle (Leuven, Belgium)

The Normative Body and the Embodiment of Norms

Bridging the Gap Between Phenomenological and Foucauldian Approaches — 323

Lau Chong-Fuk (Hongkong, China)

On the Possibility of a Disembodied Mind — 338

VII Miscellaneous — 年度文选

Lee Nam-In (Seoul, Korea)

Criticism of Gehlen's Theory of Instinct-Reduction and Phenomenological Clarification of the Concept of Instinct as the Genetic Origin of Embodied Consciousness — 355

Zhang Xianglong (Beijing, China)

Technology, Dao-Technē and Home

The Significances and Limits of Heidegger's Critique of Modern Technology's
Essence — 372

Gan Shaoping (Beijing, China)

Moral Conflicts and the Application of Ethics — 393

Zhang Jiang (Beijing, China)

Is "Intention" Present or Not? — 407

Zhao Tingyang (Beijing, China)

The First Philosophical Word — 421

Bio-Bibliography — 441